Dear Mr. President,

My name is Joshua Cheung. I am in fifth grade at Dwight School. I think air pollution is one of the most serious problems of our country because it fills the globe with harmful gas that can hurt a human body and pollutes nature. I chose this as my subject to write to you about because I think this is one of the problems that people should be more concerned about.

There is bad news about air pollution in the United States. According to a 2009 report, around 60 percent of Americans live in areas where air pollution has reached unhealthy levels that can make people sick. In 2013, Los Angeles' riverside area is ranked as the most air-polluted city in the world. This is mostly because of vehicles such as buses and trucks.

I think the best solution to the problem is by only using environmental friendly vehicles like Green vehicles because they are 100 percent powered by electricity so they won't pollute air. Or you can try to encourage other people to take public transportation so it can do less pollution to the air. I can start this by asking my mom to stop driving me to school and take the subway. Thank you for taking your time to read my letter.

Sincerely,

Joshua Cheung

P.S. I watched your show : Running Wild with Bear Grylls : President Obama, it is a really good show.
